THE MERCHANT COMMUNITY OF HONGKONG.

GENTLEMEN.—We have always been of opinion that to conduct business properly and amicably a regular system should be established whereby goods can be paid for by an acknowledged rule fair to everybody. You are no doubt aware that for years past the dollar question has been a very troublesome one. Dollars are imported into the Colony from various sources and of various standards.
The Government of Hongkong, in conjunction with the High Officers of Canton, have issued notices ordering Chinese to receive the American and the Mexican dollars in the market for goods irrespective of weight; they are accordingly used here without any difficulty, but the Chinese Merchants of other Ports come here, and they will only pay for their goods in dollars at current rate, or by weight. We sometimes offer dollars, in payment of business transacted, to foreign firms, but although good, they are declined.
Traders from other parts are kept away from doing business in the Colony on this account; hence the great dullness of trade at present.
With a proper system we feel confident the trade, which is daily dwindling down, will speedily revive. We ask you, Gentlemen, to consider the matter and call a meeting to devise some settlement of this question, whereby both Foreign and Chinese Merchants will be on the same footing. Dollars of all descriptions, unless spurious, can be used here, if by weight; it does not matter if they are old or new to us; "weight" seems the fairest and simplest plan. We beg, Gentlemen, to ask your advice on the matter, and ask you to settle this question at once and for good, and offer you every assistance we can give you on our part in discussing the matter as publicly as possible.

OF HONGKONG.

THE CHINA MAIL.

HONGKONG, THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1877.

Our suspicions that neither the length nor the shortness of the report of the Mission to Yunnan, or even the asserted literary incapacity of the Hon. T. G.
Grosvenor, would deprive us of an account of the important enquiry into Mr Margery's murder were apparently well founded. In the House of Commons on the 19th February Mr Stewart asked the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs "when the remainder of the papers connected with the expedition to Yunnan, including Mr Grosvenor's report, and also any papers on the recent Convention between Sir Thomas Wade and the Chinese Government, would be laid on the table." Mr Bourke replied that "they would be ready in a few days." From this it may be inferred that we shall be shortly placed in possession of the report.
It is satisfactory to observe that so much interest is evinced in the House respecting China matters, and especially in regard to the Yunnan affair. Probably the arrival of the Chinese Embassy in the metropolis has tended to direct the attention of our legislators a little to this quarter of the world.

The United States Diplomatic and Consular Service in the Far East is, we hear, likely to undergo some important changes in the course of a few months. We have already given publicity to the facts that Mr John C. Myers, Consul-General for the United States at Shanghai, has been suspended, and that Mr O. B. Bradford is advertised to assume charge of his post. Why this step has been taken in regard to Mr Myers we are unable to say. Some time ago, however, on two Chinese steamers being brought before him charged with attempting or threatening to shoot the captain of the vessel on which they were serving, Mr Myers was reported to have told the prisoners, after sentencing one of them to three years' imprisonment, that he had power to inflict a fine of $3,000 in addition, but as it was clear to him that they had been corrupted by the Democratic party in the United States, whence the vessel had just arrived, he would not punish them with undue severity. It is quite true that the present administration of the United States is a Republican and not a Democratic one, but it is quite possible that these rather unguarded remarks of Mr Myers may have had something to do with his removal. Some other changes of more importance are, we believe, contemplated in the service. It is said that the new Administration has determined to send the Hon. George Seward to the Court of St. James as a mark of respect to the memory of his uncle and of esteem for himself personally. In connection with this change it is also said that Mr Bailey, the United States Consul at this Port, will be entrusted with the Peking Mission; that Major Studer will be transferred from Singapore to Hongkong, or, failing that movement, that General Van Buren will be sent here, in which case the new American Consul at Bangkok, Mr Sickles, will be appointed to the post vacated by the General, in Japan.

"CHINESERY" AT HOME.

OUR London correspondent, who is evidently watching the doings of the Chinese Embassy with care, calls attention in the letter which we publish this evening, to a working of the Embassy which is undoubtedly worthy of consideration.

All who are acquainted with affairs in China, are familiar with the extreme energy with which a certain class of officials, in part in our own Consular and Diplomatic Service, and in part in the service of the Chinese Government themselves advocate the Chinese side of every question. Our pro-Chinese Consular authorities have become a by-word, and it has often been a grave question, what influence a combine to make almost all who learn the Chinese language, lean so blindly to the native side of every question with which they have to deal.

It is only just to say that, palpable as this leaning has been, there has never been as yet any reason to believe that it has resulted from anything more than gratified vanity and the pedantry which so frequently follows the knowledge of some subject with which the outside world is unacquainted. There is something very tickling to a man's pride to feel that his special knowledge of very univerting Chinese hieroglyphics enables him to judge with so much more accuracy than ordinary persons about anything connected with China, from the dirty and unsavoury viands in Chinese shops up to the general bearing of foreign relations with the Court of Peking.

The student of tones and particles, blundering over his pronunciation and his radicals, imagines he possesses the key to all the mysteries in the Celestial Empire.

Once impressed with this idea—and it is astonishing how very soon it takes hold of the Chinese student—he is easily persuaded by his teachers that things are not what they seem, and that only those opinions on China matters are worth anything which are formed by clever people like himself who have learnt the language and been duly primed up by their teachers while doing so. This naturally makes him lean towards those who at once supply and admire his superior wisdom; and the habit of Mandarin worshipping ones contracted, goes on increasing with marked rapidity.

The advocates in the Service of the Chinese Government have other and more palpable motives for admiring both the Chinese people and their institutions.

To their suave pig-tailed superiors they owe good pay, regular employment, and better treatment than is often experienced at the hands of Europeans—and they would really be ungrateful if, in dealing with the Chinese, they were not "to their faults a little blind." Many of them are gentlemen of considerable talent and culture, who, when aided by the subtle intellect of the Chinese, are able to "put a case" in a way which goes far beyond anything that can be done in the same direction by the most plausible foreigner not so "instructed."

By these two means the Chinese are now pretty well represented, and certainly get their "case" well enough stated, both in the public prints and by means of influence of a variety of characters in official quarters. This kind of power, it seems, is now being gradually brought into play at home. Let any statement of a disparaging character appear about a Chinaman, even if it be to the extent of his being given the wrong title in the Court Circular; and an explanation will be assuredly forthcoming from an amicus curiæ in the form of some Consular admirer home on leave, or one of the more regular advocates in the employ of the Embassy, or of the Representative of the Imperial Maritime Customs in London.

Whenever China subject comes forward a dozen ready pens are placed at the disposal of the newspapers, who fondly imagine that as the gentlemen yielding them speak Chinese and are connected with Chinese officials, their information is certain to be of the most reliable description. In short, the establishment of the Chinese Embassy will apparently result in the Chinese being represented much more fully than has been expected, and in its becoming still easier than it has been hitherto to persuade the Home Authorities to accept Chinese views, in the advocacy of which the Mandarin worshipping Consular Official and the well-paid foreign employé of the Chinese Government will find congenial occupation, happy in having a live Tah Jen in whose smiles and admiration they may bask, at Mr Hart's Agency or at the Chinese Embassy, as they did of yore at the Imperial Customs or the Tsung-li Yamen.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING IN THE Chinese Mail.

TWO cents a character for the first 100 characters, and one cent a character beyond the first 100, for first insertion, and half price for repetitions during the first week. Subsequent weeks' insertions will be charged only one half the amount of the first week's charge. Advertisements for half a year and longer will be allowed a deduction of 25 per cent. on the total amount, and contracts for more favourable terms can be made.

Efforts have been made to establish Agents for circulating the Chinese Mail in all the ports and in the interior of China, all the ports in Japan, in Saigon, Singapore, Penang, Calcutta, Batavia, Manila, the Philippines, Australia, San Francisco, Peru and other places which Chinese frequent. When the list of Agencies is completed, it will be published. Agents have been already established in most of the above places, and it is important ports more than one agent has been appointed at each.

NOTICE.

THE CHINESE MAIL.

PROM and after the Chinese New Year's day (February 17, 1874) the Chinese Mail will be issued DAILY instead of twice a week as heretofore. No change, however, will be made in the price of subscription, which will remain at $4 per annum.

The charges for advertisements are now assimilated to those of the China Mail. The unusual success which has attended the Chinese Mail makes it an admirable medium for advertisers.

The Conductors guarantee an eventual circulation of one thousand copies. It is already the most influential native journal published, and enjoys considerable prestige at the Ports of China and Japan, and at Singapore, Penang, Calcutta, San Francisco and Australia.

Price, $6, leather half bound.

The scope of this work includes detailed descriptions of important Sites and MONUMENTS, notes on the Climate and general TOPOGRAPHY, FAUNA, FLORA, GEOLOGY and MINERALOGY of each Port and its neighbourhood, with HISTORICAL NOTICES and minute details respecting the rise and progress and social characteristics of the several foreign settlements. To these particulars are added summaries and statistics of the TRADE of each open Port, compiled from official returns, together with statements respecting COINAGE, CURRENCY, and EXCHANGES, LITERARY COMMUNICATION, DISTANCES, and rates of PASSAGE MONEY. Hints, and recommendations to travellers, giving full particulars of OUTFIT and mode of proceeding to the less frequented settlements are also included, combined with notes on DOMESTIC MARKETS and Mode of Living.

In addition to furnishing similar particulars, the Section devoted to Hongkong contains an historical sketch forming a chronological index of the chief events which occupied public attention between 1841 and 1866, including POLITICAL EVENTS, Changes in the GOVERNMENT SERVICE, the ARRIVAL and DEPARTURE of EMIGRANT RESIDENTS, a record of the most notable PIRACIES, ROBBERIES, MURDERS, FRAUDS, FIRES and CRIMINAL TRIALS, ADDRESSSES and PRESENTATIONS, &c., &c.

The appendix contains full tables of the various steam companies' lines. It also includes a CATALOGUE of over 440 works published in the English language upon China and Japan, while a copious INDEX at the end of the work affords a ready means of reference to the reader.
